

south america

argentina

A country of fascinating diversity and immense beauty. Buenos Aires will fascinate you with tango, wonderful gourmet restaurants, art, design, and its lively and cosmopolitan spirit. Marvel at the immensity of Patagonia and become enthralled by its colors, as much as the beautiful sound of silence. The Mesopotamia region will surprise you with its jungles and the uniqueness of the Iguazu Falls. Adventure and gourmet experiences await you in the Cuyo region, at the foot of the Andes, surrounded by vineyards.

Everything in Brazil seems larger than life. Welcome to the world's largest party, Carnival in Rio de Janeiro. Brazil boasts the greatest waterfall, biggest wetlands, mightiest river, largest rain forest, and longest beach. With five thousand miles of coastline and countless number of protected environmental reserves, it is natural beauty at its best.

chile

A country of natural attractions...from the raging rivers, sprawling glaciers, valleys and soaring mountains to its snow-capped volcanoes, icy fjords and sandy beaches.

It has some superb vineyards surrounding Santiago, and magnificent National Parks, including Easter Island, famous for its mysterious giant statues, and numerous activities for outdoor enthusiasts.

The multicultural layers of great civilizations make Peru so intriguing. Wander around colonial cities with preserved legacies of the Spanish conquistadors. Visit the ancient Inca capital of Cusco and explore the lost city of Machu Picchu. The Peruvian Andes are arguably the most beautiful on the continent and are home to millions of indigenous highlanders, who still speak the ancient tongue of Quechua.

Located in a privileged setting, Uruguay boasts 310 miles of coastline, offering one long, white sandy beach, occasionally interrupted by dunes, pine, acacia and eucalyptus trees. Montevideo, its cultural heartland, is a vibrant introduction to the accomplishments of Uruguayan music, art, and literature. For a grander, quieter side trip, consider lovely Colonia del Sacramento, a UNESCO World Heritage City. Another option is Carmelo, a fantastic resort in which to golf, relax and be pampered.

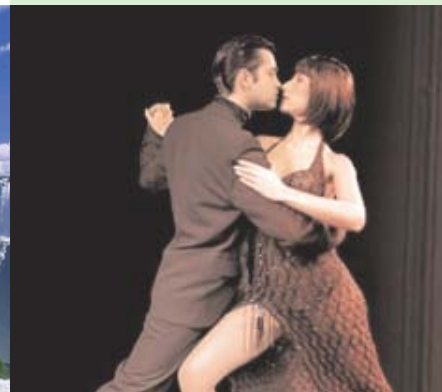

South America has become one of the world's best options for meetings and incentives. It has breathtaking landscapes, great prices, delicious cuisine, passionate and welcoming people, and the convenience of direct flights from North America. Bordered on the west by the Pacific Ocean and on the north and east by the Atlantic Ocean; the region shares the Eastern time zone.
